Program Description: Music that Cares

I offer an interactive Folk Music sing along performance which includes well known folk and popular songs from the 40s, 50s and 60s, as well as innovative therapeutic play exercises, which I weave through out the performance. We begin with light warm up exercises and simple connection. I then share percussion instruments and fun costumes with volunteers from the audience. Together we play songs and enjoy interactive music, therapeutic movement, spontaneous song share and fun simple games. I have been performing in nursing homes, retirement homes, orphanages , and music venues world wide for over 10 years. I am continuously amazed at how music, play and connection can transform people from non verbal to verbal, from asleep to singing and from generally depressed to joyful and engaged. "Friendship and play are the best medicines."- Patch Adams

Details and Special offerings: A typical program last 45 minutes-1.25 hours. I offer room to room visits for residents who cannot make it to the show. I prefer doing room to room as part of my programs, as I'd like to reach those people especially. I can do home visits and personalized concerts. I also work with youth and volunteers on occasion, to bring more life and connection and community arts to assisted living facilities. Talk to me about creating a special program catered to the needs and desires of your residents!

Payment: I typically ask for a sliding scale of $50-200 per performance. Pricing is adjustable based on facility budget, block booking prices and travel expenses.
